

Seizing the moment: Legal advisors prepare for a full market recovery

Adapting

to remote work environments

As the pandemic disrupted dealmaking globally in 2020, corporate lawyers faced new and unexpected challenges managing transactions – deal team collaboration and maintaining workflow productivity proved particularly difficult.

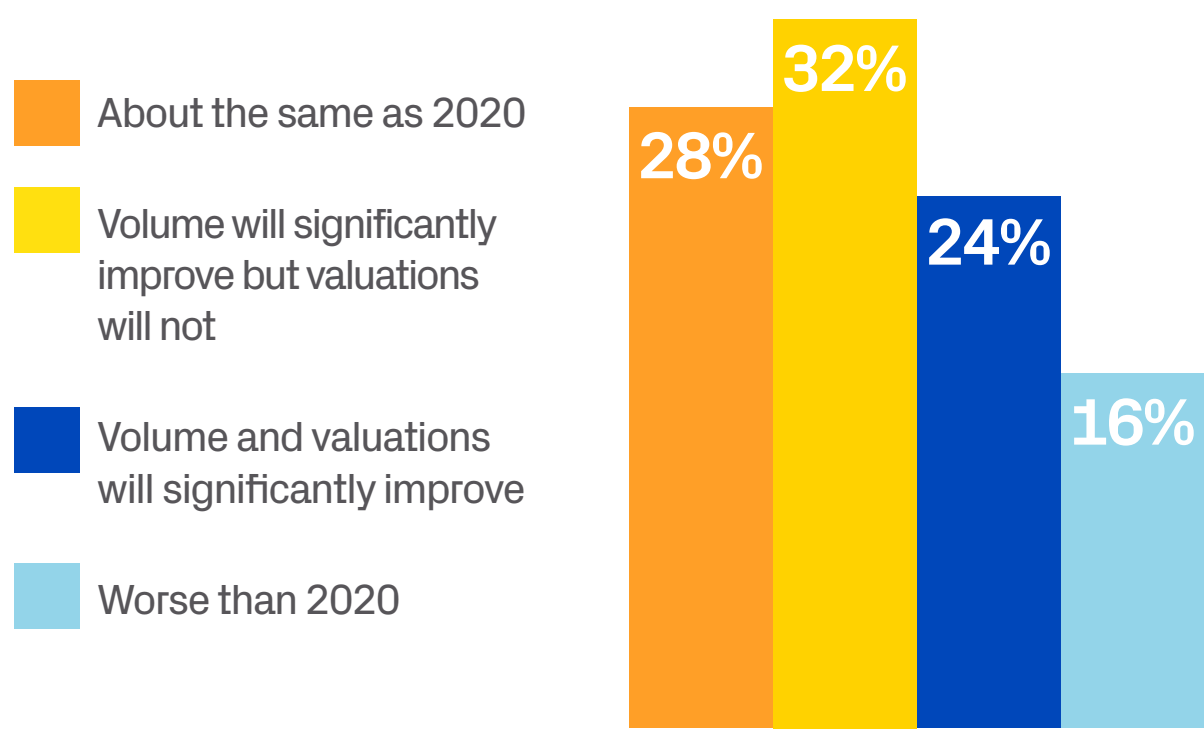

- Deal team collaboration
- Maintaining legal team productivity
- Client relationship management
- Conducting due diligence

Positioning

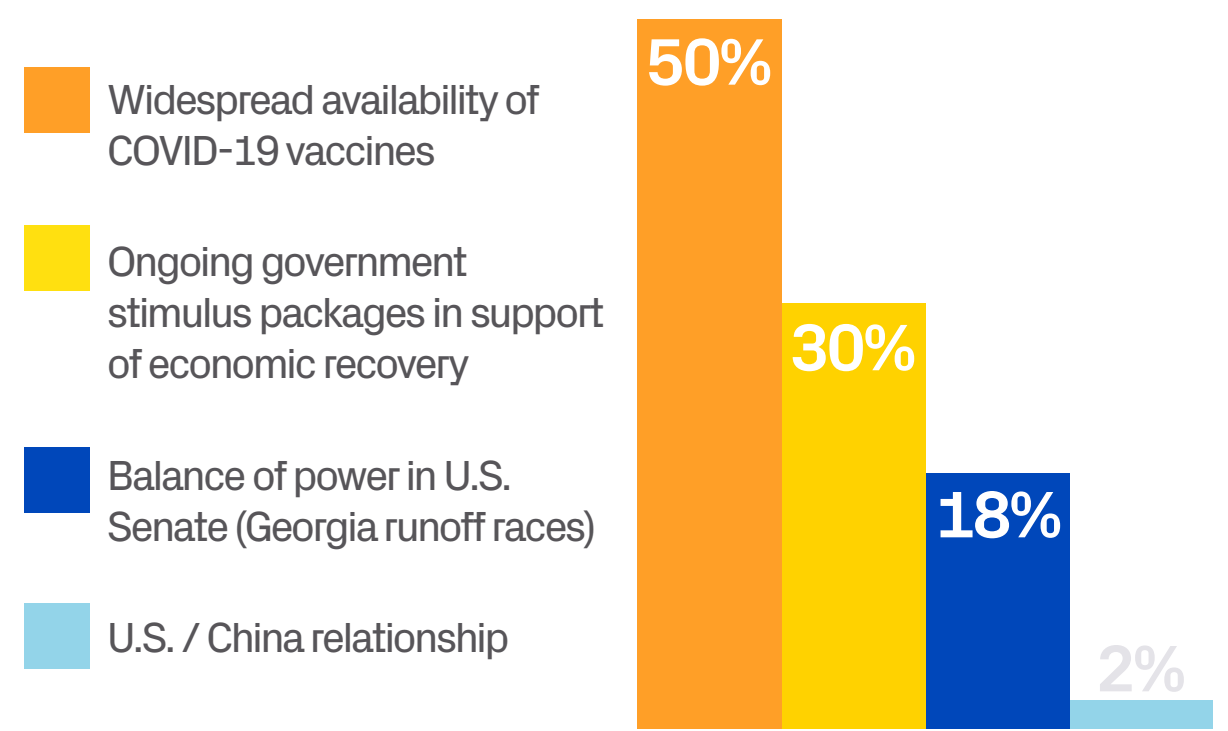

for more deals

Most legal advisors believe widespread availability of COVID-19 vaccinations and continued government economic stimulus plans position markets for an increase in deal volume. Many also anticipate seeing deal valuations improve across sectors.
