

Does Merrill Corporation comply with the GDPR?

Merrill is already compliant with the existing Data Protection Directive 95/46/EC and has taken steps to continue its compliance as the GDPR comes into effect. In addition, Merrill has a working group that regularly reviews, maintains and improves Merrill's data protection policy.

How will this affect Merrill?

Merrill has been in the business of securely managing regulated data for 50 years. We have always been ahead of the curve in maintaining confidential data in a secure manner. As a result, the onset of the GDPR will not significantly change how Merrill manages its data or its clients' data. Merrill will continue to implement new technology, policies and processes as opportunities and requirements arise.

What security measures are in place to ensure Merrill is GDPR compliant?

Merrill is ISO/IEC 27001 certified: Merrill's processes are audited against global standards required for maintaining confidentiality, security and integrity for all data that Merrill processes.

Merrill's platforms (Merrill DataSite, Merrill DatasiteOne) provide clients with the opportunity to manage uploaded data, including choosing the level of access for any user. While Merrill can facilitate, the client is ALWAYS in control of its data.

Merrill has invested in European client support and hosting facilities to maintain localisation of data in the EU.

Merrill's U.S. entity is Privacy Shield certified for clients with cross border requirements.

Merrill conducts privacy impact assessments on a regular basis and provides training on data privacy obligations to ensure best practices are met and industry leading solutions are implemented where personal information is concerned.
